

Home Sales & Construction

The Manhattan housing market continues its upward march, and total home sales are on pace to set another record this year. We expect to end the year with sales up 10.1 percent at 870 units. This trend will continue in 2016, with sales rising another 9.2 percent to 950 units.

New home construction activity in the City of Manhattan has fallen off this year due in part to the limited number of affordable lots available for builders. It appears these supply constraints will continue to be an issue, limiting construction growth despite ample demand for new homes.

MANHATTAN HOME SALES WILL RISE 9.2 PERCENT IN 2016.
